Wyatt

Diagnosed with Stage 4 High Risk Neuroblastoma at the age of 3

Wyatt was an incredible son, brother, grandson and friend. He never let cancer get in the way of living life. He loved going to the movies, hanging out with his friends, playing soccer, playing video games, and playing basketball. Oh and let's not forget…Wyatt loved giving his older brother Hunter a hard time. He enjoyed school and would often take his schoolwork with him to the hospital to work on while receiving his chemotherapy. He spent many nights Facetiming friends when he didn't understand the homework.

We are grateful for the time we had with Wyatt and cherish every memory of him. However, we are sad that we will never get to see Wyatt attend high school, drive a car, go to prom, graduate high school, go to college, get married or have kids. Wyatt wanted to be a Physical Therapist when he grew up. Cancer robbed all that from him.

Wyatt was Diagnosed with Stage 4 High Risk Neuroblastoma when he was 3 years old. He fought long and hard, giving him the nickname "Warrior Wyatt". Wyatt didn't remember life before cancer and, to be honest, neither do we. Eleven year…that's how long he fought that thieving monster we call cancer. He did not lose his battle. He didn't give up or wave that white flag, surrendering. After 11 years and multiple relapses, Wyatt took his final breath with his mom and dad by his side at Children's Hospital of Philadelphia on November 3, 2018 @ 7:11 pm. No longer in pain, "Warrior Wyatt" won. Wyatt Scott Newhard - Forever 14
